2. Danish shipping companies take responsibility

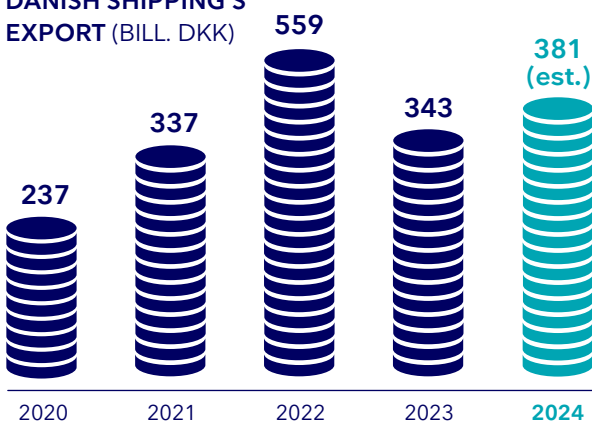

Denmark is characterized by quality shipping based on responsibility, high standards and decent working conditions - regardless of nationality. We strive to continuously reduce our climate and environmental footprint and to ensure global regulation that benefits the environment. Working with organizations and governments, we are committed to fighting corruption, fraud, and piracy.

3. Danish shipping companies are global

Danish shipping has the entire world as both workplace and marketplace. More than two-thirds of the shipping companies' activities take place outside Europe. To be successful, Danish shipping companies must be both more skilled and more efficient than their international competitors. Free and equal access to global markets as well as stable and competitive framework conditions are crucial for the success of shipping companies.

Danish Shipping has a clear goal of achieving climate neutrality by 2050 without relying on carbon offsetting.
